

Texas Women in Higher Education Regional Initiatives Grant Program

Texas Women in Higher Education (TWHE) will award grants for up to $500 for regional initiatives, such as programs, networking events, and speakers, which involve women from more than one college or university.

Eligibility

To be eligible for grant funding, the program or event must support the mission of Texas Women in Higher Education to advance women who hold or aspire to leadership roles in higher education. In addition, the program or event should address at least one of TWHE's strategic priorities listed below.

1. Provide professional development, networking, and advocacy for women holding or aspiring to leadership positions in higher education
2. Empower women to take advantage of opportunities for advancement and professional growth
3. Promote women's involvement in local, state, and national leadership development opportunities
4. Recognize women leaders and celebrate their contributions to higher education
5. Engage leaders in supporting the mission and strategic priorities of TWHE

Application and Award Process

Applications must be submitted on the TWHE Regional Initiatives Grant Application Form. Grants will be awarded in the order in which they are received. Applications must be submitted no later than 30 days prior to the program or event. Funds will be awarded after the program or event, unless otherwise agreed upon.

Individuals may request up to $500 each calendar year. Once TWHE's annual allocation of funds for grants is exhausted, no additional grants will be awarded that calendar year.

In order to share good practices and promote regional events, grant recipients may be asked to share their events or programs at the 2018 TWHE Annual Conference (April 15-17, 2018).

TWHE reserves the right to make changes in this application and award process at its discretion and without notice.
