Sara Laschever: TWHE Conference Keynote

Sara Laschever is a writer and cultural commentator who has spent her career investigating the obstacles, detours, and special circumstances that shape women’s lives and careers. Her work has been published by The New York Times, The Harvard Business Review, The New York Review of Books, Vogue, Glamour, WomensBiz, and many other publications. She is the co-author, with Linda Babcock, of two groundbreaking books about women and negotiation, Women Don’t Ask: The High Cost of Avoiding Negotiation—and Positive Strategies for Change and Ask for It! How Women Can Use the Power of Negotiation to Get What They Really Want. Sara is frequently cited in the national and international media as an expert on the persistence of the wage gap, women and conflict resolution, work-life balance issues, and the multiple factors influencing women’s long-term career success. She lectures and teaches workshops about women and negotiation for corporate audiences, colleges and universities, law firms, government agencies, and women’s leadership conferences in the U.S. and around the world. Sara lives in Concord, Massachusetts with her husband and two children.

Chair’s Welcome

The 2013 TWHE annual conference, April 18-19, is only a few weeks away, and we are very pleased with the breadth and depth of topics and quality of speakers. Online registration will end April 5, so visit twhe.org soon. Walk-ins are welcome as space is available.

The approaching conference signals the culmination of a year's worth of work by your dedicated TWHE Board members. Over the year, I have gained a greater appreciation for these talented women, with the numerous activities they are involved in while balancing career and family responsibilities—and giving of their time to TWHE programs. With my term as chair almost over, I'm delighted to join previous chairwomen in stepping aside with the knowledge the leadership is in place for TWHE to continue to serve women in Texas and our higher education communities, with exciting things to come. Rissa Potter, 2013 Chair, TWHE, Council of Public University Presidents and Chancellors/CPUPC

Sponsors Have a Huge Part

TWHE programs are funded through the annual conference and the contributions of sponsoring institutions. Colleges and universities contributing and pledging support for TWHE so far this year include:

Platinum -- Lone Star College, Texas Christian University, Texas A&M University, Texas A&M University System, Texas State University, The University of Texas at Dallas, University of North Texas

Gold -- University of Houston-Victoria, Texas A&M University-Kingsville

Bronze – Council of Public University Presidents & Chancellors/CPUPC, Independent Colleges & Universities of Texas, Inc./ICUT, Midwestern State University, Texas A&M-Central Texas, Texas Lutheran University, Texas Woman's University

Growing the Number of TWHE Institutional Representatives (IRs)

Cissy Matthews, Galveston College; Agnes DeFranco, University of Houston; Dani Day, Collin College; and Jean Keller, University of North Texas have teamed up with nearly 100 enthusiastic institutional representatives who have agreed to serve TWHE as liaisons to their campuses. This is over a 100% increase from 2012. The team plans to continue to expand the number of institutional representatives to eventually include every institution of higher education in Texas (we currently have representatives on 58% of the higher education campuses). Please review the list of IRs at the end of this newsletter—if your campus does not have a representative, please share potential IR contacts with us. If you are interested in supporting your IR in conducting activities in your community, please contact them. And, if you are the IR for your campus—please accept our appreciation and list us know how we can be of assistance.

The TWHE IR Committee will gather, share, and promote local and regional events and activities conducted by the institutional representatives that support the advancement of women in higher education at their institutions and within their regions. We welcome your ideas and suggestions of women leaders on the numerous campuses that are not affiliated with Texas Women in Higher Education. For additional information, please contact: Jean Keller, 940-565-3427, Jean.Keller@unt.edu.

As a reminder, on April 18th, the annual IR luncheon will be held. This is an orientation to the roles and responsibilities of being an IR, services and support available through TWHE and an opportunity to meet fellow IRs throughout the state of Texas. Additionally, veteran IRs will share their innovative efforts in support of women on their campuses. Make plans now for this wonderful opportunity to network, learn, and celebrate the advancement of women in higher education during the annual conference.

Am I a member of TWHE?

The clear answer is Yes! By virtue of expressing your interest in TWHE, such as participation in a conference, or in providing us with your email address, you are considered a member. TWHE is not currently a dues-driven organization and we hope to continue this format through successful operation of the annual conference and the sponsor-donations received in conjunction with the conference. Individuals interested in being included in TWHE mailings may visit the website: <http://www.twhe.org/contact-us/>.

Women at the Top (Book Review)

Women at the top: What women university and college presidents say about effective leadership.

Mimi Wolverton, Beverly L. Bower, and Adrienne E. Hyle. (2009). Stylus Publishing, Sterling, Virginia. ISBN 978-1-57922-255-7

Written in narrative style, Women at the top is an enjoyable read and conveys invaluable lessons for women seeking to assume leadership roles in higher education. The authors, Wolverton, Bower, and Hyle, use a qualitative approach, interviewing each female leader in-depth, in order to generate rich and deep narratives. Each chapter features a different leader: Gretchen Bataille, Barbara Douglas, Mildred Garcia, Carol Harter, Mamie Howard-Golladay, Martha T. Nesbitt, Pamela Sue Shockley-Zalabak, Betty Siegel, and Karen Gayton Swisher. In the words of each leader, personal histories and professional pathways to leadership are described in engaging stories. The reader will be rewarded with invaluable insights to these women and their journeys, and learn about failures and successes in various higher education environments, community colleges, public and private universities, and for-profits. Women at the top: What women university and college presidents say about effective leadership can be purchased on Amazon or from Stylus Publishing. Valerie Osland Paton, Texas Tech University, ACE 2012-13 ACE Fellow

Celebration of leadership:
Dr. Diana Natalicio promotes, nurtures UTEP over 25-year career

Excerpt from: El Paso Times, February 17, 2013

In the nearly 100-year history of the University of Texas at El Paso, Diana Natalicio has been its president for a quarter of that time. On Feb. 11, Natalicio celebrated her 25th year at the university as its 14th president, a real rarity. Natalicio is the current longest-serving president of a four-year Texas public university and UTEP's first woman president. Her background is similar to the backgrounds of most UTEP students who are the first ones in their families attending college and some who juggle their studies with working and raising families.

Among Natalicio's accomplishments:

- * Natalicio will be sworn in as chairwoman of the American Council on Education next month.
- * She serves on the board of trustees of the Rockefeller Foundation, and on the board of directors of the Association of Public and Land Grant Universities.
- * She has served on the board of governors of the U.S.-Mexico Foundation for Science and of the NASA Advisory Committee, and on the boards of Trinity Industries, National Action Council for Minorities in Engineering, Sandia Corp. and Internt2.
- * She was appointed by former President George H.W. Bush to the Advisory Commission on Education Excellence for Hispanic Americans.
- * In 1994, former President Bill Clinton appointed her to the National Science Board and she served two six-year terms as a board member and three two-year terms as the board's vice chairwoman.
- * In 1997, she was given the Harold W. McGraw Jr. Prize in Education. Two years later, Natalicio was inducted into the Texas Women's Hall of Fame. In 2006, she was given the University of Texas at Austin's Distinguished Alumnus Award.
- * In 2011, she was recognized by Mexican President Felipe Calderón with the Orden Mexicana del Aguila Azteca, or the Order of the Aztec Eagle, that country's highest honor given to foreign nationals.
- * Received honorary doctoral degrees from Georgetown University, Smith College and the Universidad Autonoma de Nuevo Leon.

University of Texas at El Paso President Diana Natalicio Elected Board Chair of ACE

From <http://www.acenet.edu/news-room/Pages/University-Texas-El-Paso-President-Natalicio-Elected-ACE-Board-Chair.aspx>

Diana Natalicio, president of The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP), has been elected chair of the Board of Directors of ACE, the major coordinating body for all the nation's higher education institutions (March 2013).

Congratulations President Natalicio—we are grateful for your accomplishments and look forward to your continued success. Thank you for your support of women throughout the higher education community!

ACE Honors Juliet V. Garcia and Karen S. Haynes at Women's Leadership Dinner

For their exemplary contributions to women in higher education, ACE honored Juliet V. García, president of The University of Texas at Brownsville, with the ACE Lifetime Achievement Award, and Karen S. Haynes, president of California State University San Marcos, with the 2013 Donna Shavlik Award.

Juliet V. García joined The University of Texas System in 1992 as president of The University of Texas at Brownsville (UTB) after serving as president of Texas Southmost College (TSC) for six years. When she was named president of TSC in 1986, she became the first Mexican-American woman in the nation to lead a college or university. She led the drive to establish UTB and to form a unique partnership between the university and TSC.

Among the many honors García has received for her work is induction into the Texas Women's Hall of Fame for Lifetime Achievement in Education and the Hispanic Heritage Award. Most recently, TIME named her one of the Top 10 college presidents. She also served as chair of the ACE Board of Directors from 1994-95.

Karen S. Haynes, president of California State University San Marcos, served as the first woman dean at The University of Houston and has a longstanding history with ACE's Women's Network. She helped renew and reinvigorate the Texas State Network in the 1980s.

April Events for Women in Texas Higher Education

April 4-5: Texas Tech will host the 29th-annual Conference on the Advancement of Women. This year's theme is "Women and Global Change: Achieving Peace through Empowering Women, Part II." The conference will explore the peace-building work of women, including core of movements for social, political and economic change. The documentary "Girl Rising" will show at 6:30 p.m. April 4. A luncheon will recognize the 2013-2014 Women's Studies Scholarship Award recipients at noon in the Matador Room of the Student Union building. Pre-registration is required. For more information, the conference program, schedule and the registration form, visit www.depts.ttu.edu/wstudies/AWHE\_2013.php

April 13: Baylor University will host "Women in the Academy" -- an annual, regional, one-day conference featuring activities to further the understanding of issues facing women in higher education. While the conference is centered on graduate students, faculty and administrators are welcome to attend. Last year's sessions covered topics such as mentoring, finding work and personal life balance, and the roles of being an administrator and/or faculty member. An invitation with additional details is attached with encouragement to forward to graduate students.

April 18-19: Texas Women in Higher Education/TWHE annual conference, San Antonio. See <http://www.twhe.org/>

April 26: TWHE@LU: Conference for women of Lamar University, Lamar Institute of Technology, Lamar State College Orange and Lamar State College – Port Arthur. This is the first conference of its kind for Lamar University and it's local peer Texas State System Colleges. The Conference is focused on promoting the mission of TWHE regionally by remaining committed to providing its participants with the skills needed to reach leadership positions and to enhancing the leadership skills of those already there. The conference will continue the 2013 theme, "Shaping the Future--One Woman at a Time". The Keynote speaker will be TWHE Board Member and Lamar University Alumnae Dr. Jennifer Martin of Texas Woman's University. The conference will include breakout sessions covering: 1) The Future of Women Leaders in Higher Education, 2) Balancing Your Life: Health & Well Being, Managing the Balancing Act, 3) The Cult of Domesticity Revisited: How to Help Women Circumvent the Marriage and Motherhood Mandate in Order to Increase Their Academic Potential, and 4) Women Leaders as Mentors. The conference will conclude with "Her Stories". Limited to 100 participants, registration opens March 25th at www.lamar.edu/twhe. For information, contact Teresa E. Simpson,

TWHE IR, Teresa.simspon@lamar.edu

April 26: Texas A&M University will host a Forum on Women in IT with the goal of engaging the local IT community to inspire advocacy directed at promoting a more welcoming climate for women in IT. Contact Gib Sawtelle at gib@tamu.edu for information.

Welcome New Presidents

Beth Lewis

College of the Mainland makes history by naming first woman president - 02/03/2013 --Houston Chronicle (Excerpt)

While student success is at the top of her to-do list, she also has plans to give the campus a face-lift and make the college more appealing to prospective students. Lewis, formerly the vice president for Northeast Lakeview College outside of San Antonio, has spent her whole career in higher education. Beginning as a teacher's assistant, she became a full-time professor in 1990. She then climbed the administrative ladder to her current position. "I feel like I am coming home," said Lewis, who originally is from Conroe. "I am very familiar with the Bay Area."

Emily Cutrer

Texas A&M University System News Release
JANUARY 9, 2013 (Excerpt)

Chancellor John Sharp announced Emily Fourmy Cutrer as the fourth president of Texas A&M University-Texarkana, beginning January 15. Cutrer previously served as provost and vice president for academic affairs at California State University San Marcos, where she worked since 2006. Prior to that, Cutrer held a variety of administrative positions at Arizona State University from 1990-2006, culminating as dean of the New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences from 2001-2006. From 1986-1990, she was a member of the faculty and also served as associate director of the American studies program at The University of Texas at Austin.

Having women on corporate boards is 'the smart thing to do,' study finds

03/28/2013 © Omaha World-Herald (Excerpt)

Women make better corporate leaders than men because they are more likely to make fair decisions when competing interests are at stake, according to a study in the International Journal of Business Governance and Ethics.

Male directors prefer making decisions using rules, regulations and tradition, the survey found. Female directors, by contrast, are less constrained by rules and more prepared to rock the boat. They are also more likely to use cooperation, collaboration and consensus-building. Women leaders are more inquisitive than men and tend to see more than one solution to a problem.

In Memoriam

Dr. Kermetta "Kay" Clayton passed away unexpectedly, January 18, 2012

Excerpt from <http://www.legacy.com/obituaries/courier/obituary.aspx?pid=162603416>

Dr. Clayton began her meritorious career in higher education in 1978 as the Assistant Professor in the School of Human Ecology, College of Natural Sciences, at the University of Texas in Austin. In 1983, she received her first of many leadership appointments as Associate Professor and Chair of the Department of Family Life Studies, School of Home Economics at the University of Southern Mississippi. She was promoted to Professor in the spring of 1988.

Dr. Clayton moved back to Texas in 1988 when she was appointed Professor and Chair of the Department of Human Sciences, College of Agriculture and Human Sciences at Texas A&M University-Kingsville (TAMUK - formerly Texas A&I University). Between 1988 and 2008, she served TAMUK as the Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs and Academic Intern (1993-1995), Vice President for Student Affairs and Special Services (1995-1999), Interim University President (2001-2002), and as the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs (1999-2008). Beginning in July 2008 and continuing until her retirement in August, 2010, Dr. Clayton served as the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs at Texas Woman's University in Denton, Texas.

At the national level, Kay served in a leadership position for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) accreditation process and for the mentoring of new provosts for the American Association of State Colleges and Universities. She was Past President and Chair of the Board for the many professional associations including the Association for Career and Technical Education, the Association of Teacher Educators of Family and Consumer Sciences, and the National Council of Administrators of Family and Consumer Sciences. Her contributions spanned 32 years of tireless service to institutions of higher education.

Community and civic activities were also a large part of Kay's life. Most people never knew that she helped countless students attend college through her anonymous support. While living in Denton, she was a member of the Denton Rotary Club and the Denton Chamber of Commerce from 2008-2010. She was a member of the Kingsville Noon Rotary Club from 1990-2008 and served as President from 1994-1995. Kay served on the Kingsville Board of Directors for the Greater Kingsville Economic Development Council from 1992-2002, was a member of the Kleberg First National Bank Board of Advisors from 2002-2008, and was a member of the Kingsville Chamber of Commerce from 1995 until her untimely death. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations be made to the Dr. Kay Clayton Fund, Texas A&M University-Kingsville Foundation, PO Box 2202, Kingsville, Texas, 78363.

Dr. Jackolyn Benson Morgan

Excerpt from <http://marshallandmarshallfd.com/sitemaker/sites/MARSHA2/obit.cgi?user=416826Morgan>

Jackolyn Morgan died July 10, 2011 in Dallas, Texas. Dr. Morgan began her career as Vocation Nurse in Houston, Texas at Ben Taub Hospital. She earned her associate's degree from McLennon Community College in Waco and her Bachelor's degree from Angelo State University in San Angelo. She earned her master's and doctorate degrees from Texas Tech University. Dr. Morgan contributed to the development of the nursing education program at Cisco College for over 25 years. At the time of her death, she was serving as the Cisco College. Dean of Health Sciences. As a result of her devotion to her students and to nursing as mission, the hall of the new Health Sciences wing at Cisco College, Abilene, was named in her honor. She is greatly missed by her friends and colleagues at work, at church and at home.
